The Sentinel

The Sentinel is published in January, April, August and October of each year as a service to the members of the Army of Tennessee with publishing dates for these issues being January 7, April 7, August 7 and October 7. To be considered for publication, articles must reach the Editor at least seven days prior to a posting date. Permission is granted to reproduce any and all material contained in this newsletter provided that proper credit is given. The opinions expressed by the authors of signed articles reflect the personal views of the writers and are not necessarily a statement of Army policy. The citizen-soldiers who fought for the Confederacy personified the best qualities of America. The preservation of liberty and freedom was the motivating factor in the South’s decision to fight the Second American Revolution. The tenacity with which Confederate soldiers fought underscored their belief in the rights guaranteed by the Constitution. These attributes are the underpinning of our democratic society and represent the foundation on which this nation was built.

Today, the SCV is preserving the history and legacy of these heroes so that future generations can understand the motives that animated the Southern Cause.

The SCV is the direct heir of the United Confederate Veterans, and the oldest hereditary organization for male descendants of Confederate soldiers. Organized at Richmond, Virginia in 1896, the SCV continues to serve as a historical, patriotic, and non-political organization dedicated to ensuring that a true history of the 1861 - 1865 period is preserved.

Membership is open to all male descendants of any veteran who served honorably in the Confederate armed forces.

From the Army Commander

Compatriots,

The crispness of the air and the color change of the leaves signals the arrival of Fall, my favorite time of the year.

Dues collection should be over but sadly it is not. We still have camps that have not sent their dues in, waiting on a few last members to renew. For those camps, you will need to send an extra $5 with your National dues to cover the late charge. Dues renewal ends on July 31st of each year; there has been a grace period until August 31, maybe we should start collecting earlier (just a thought). You can pay them online too. If you do not know how or you are having a problem doing it, contact Eric Previti at HQ or take his Adjutant training course online that he offers or there is one other way. (Skip to the next paragraph).

On page 7 is the registration form for the AoT workshop that will be held on March 11, 2023 in Foley, Alabama. Twenty minutes from the beach and extended stays at a reduced rate are available. Eric will be giving his Commander/Adjutant training course live at the AoT workshop. This workshop gives the camps in the Florida panhandle, Mississippi gulf coast and lower Alabama an opportunity to attend with a shorter drive than before. All members are welcome to attend the workshop wherever your location may be. Hopefully we can arrange for more workshops in other areas of the Army. We need a Camp or Division to host the event.

Inside this edition you will find pictures of different camps holding events across the Army. Late summer and early fall are when Festivals are held across the South especially in small towns. These are ideal for setting up a recruiting/information booth for our camps. We can gain new members and make our presence known in the community. After 17 years in the SCV it still amazes me when I hear someone say “I have never heard of the Sons of Confederate Veterans” We have to do a better job of advertising ourselves and the work that we do. Heritage Chief Ron Kennedy will be doing “Taking our narrative nationally” at the workshop. Along with proven ideas using radio and other media to get our message to the public. However, the best way to recruit is to put ourselves out in the public eye at different local events. You can pass out information about your camp, meet people and start a conversation on who we are and what we do. Your booth can be elaborate or bare bones, the people inside the booth will make the difference.

If you need material for your booth, there are tri-folds and rack cards available from Headquarters. Back issues of the Confederate Veteran are available as well. At MakeDixieGreatAgain.com, “Southern Defenders” are available and can be ordered from the website or you can download a PDF and print your own handout. There is a lot of information on the website that can be used to further our cause.

Lt. CiC Donnie Kennedy will be doing a Recruiting and Retention program at the AoT workshop in March and will be providing the information in his articles in the Confederate Veteran as well. The big difference is you have the ability to ask questions at the workshop.

AoT Councilman Carl Jones has a broad topic entitled “Becoming a Community Partner”. This will cover everything from how you conduct camp meetings to getting known in your community as a civic organization similar to the Lions Club, Jaycees, Rotary or Kiwanis.

I have asked CiC Jason Boshers to talk about “Moving Forward with the SCV”. Upcoming plans and events that will make our organization even better than it is now.

Work on the Museum continues. There is progress being made every week on the timeline portion and more artifacts are arriving. We still have a lot of work to complete but it definitely looks different than it did a year ago. If you were at the National Reunion at Cartersville and saw the presentation on the museum it has changed even more since then. There are pictures available on Facebook but sometimes those are in progress not the completed section. I want to thank Robert Jewellson for all of his work in helping to get our work completed.

One last thought. I would like to see each Division make a goal for their Division, one that is attainable but challenging. It could be to reach a certain number of new members, raise a certain number of flagpoles, raise money for Division or National projects. Having a goal gets us involved. Last year the Tennessee Division Commander, Joey Nolan set a goal for the Division to recruit a certain number of new members. They exceeded their goal. We need something to strive for, something to get more people involved. We are the AoT, the best in the Confederation.

Help Georgia Fight For Their Monuments

The Georgia Division is involved in multiple legal cases trying to preserve the monuments where they are currently located or to return them to their original location. The monument takedown effort in Georgia is stronger than any other place except Virginia. If you as an individual, a Camp or a Division can help financially it would be greatly appreciated. Some of the cases they are involved in will set precedents that can be used by other states when applicable. They have spent more than $150,000 of Division funds plus other monies donated to stop the desecration by the local or county municipalities. All donations sent regardless of size is appreciated. Historic Cemetery Preservation of North Florida, Inc.
Kelly V. Crocker, President

Southern Friends,

The Historic Cemetery Preservation of North Florida, Inc, based in Tallahassee, is a non-profit, tax exempt organization registered with the State of Florida and the Internal Revenue Service. It is our goal to Restore, Preserve, and Maintain the final resting place of Confederate Veterans and their spouses. We also include all U. S. Veterans and their spouses.

Our mission includes cleaning headstones using established and approved methods, repairing damaged and broken headstones, and obtaining and installing headstones for those soldiers who have never had a headstone.

We will acquire as many new headstones from the Veterans Administration (VA) as possible, at no charge. However, headstones for some Veterans will be purchased, in cases where the VA will not accept our "proof of burial". Also, there will be expenses for cleaning and repair materials. This will not be an easy task, BUT will be a worthy cause.

Our first major project is The Confederate Section of Old City Cemetery Tallahassee, Florida, where old records indicate there are 186 Confederates buried. However, only 62 markers currently exist. We have identified an additional 80 unmarked Veterans, who are believed to be there. (22 from Georgia units and 58 from Florida units) Four Soldiers died of wounds from Battle of Olustee and three from Battle of Natural Bridge. The VA has rejected some of our requests for markers, already. It seems that "died in Tallahassee Hospital" is not good enough. We will continue to fight the VA, but will ultimately have to purchase some stones. We believe that every Veteran deserves a marker. A list of the unmarked Veterans will be provided upon request.

We need your help! Every donation received will go toward this project until it is finished. Receipt of your tax-deductible donation will be provided upon request. Our immediate goal is to raise $10,000 for this project. Any amount donated is appreciated.

“Jim Crow Laws”

by Thomas Wood

This article presents some of the facts about the infamous “Jim Crow Laws” that some in our country want so desperately and intentionally to continue to blame on the South as another one of their great distortions of truth. Some people have asked me why I continue to defend the South because they tell me the war is over. I have news for those folks, the North will not allow the war to be over. The North continues to slam the South at every opportunity. I assure you the North continues the war of words and lies and distortions against the South every day. Almost daily we hear slanderous comments about the South and the daily constant bombardment and reminder of slavery blamed solely on the South, the racial hatred lies continue to be spread again solely blaming the South, our ancestors are called traitors against the country they loved, but yet, had the courage to rebel against a tyrannical northern government and to legally secede from such a government. The hatred for the South continues today and the South is made a scapegoat for the Neo-Marxist agenda.

It is obvious to me that we must continue to defend the modern South as our ancestors did defending their homeland in the 1860’s. It seems to me the more things change, the more they stay the same. “Jim Crow Laws” are a great example how the North continues to blame the nation’s racial woes on the South. The real “Jim Crow” was the stage name of New York actor Thomas D. Rice who made a career of minstrel performances in blackface and popularized that form of entertainment. The term “Jim Crow” originated from a song written and sung by Rice in 1832 called “Jump Jim Crow” and became a common term referring to the African-American population of the time. Most people do not understand that “Jim Crow Laws” originated in the North. These Northern “Jim Crow” laws were later the adopted model for Southern States after the war. The Southern “Jim Crow” laws were instituted following the ruin, corruption and oppression of “Southern Reconstruction.” These laws were the South’s way of fighting back and re-gaining some control over their destroyed lives by the north.

In Alex de Toqueville’s book “Democracy in America” written in 1835, he wrote that “the prejudice of race appears to be stronger in the states that have abolished slavery than in those where it still exists, and nowhere is it so intolerant as in those states where servitude has never been known.” Before the outbreak of the war, most Northern states had discriminatory laws against the Black population. In 1847 Ohio prohibited the settlement of 518 emancipated slaves of Virginian John Randolph. An Ohio congressman threatened armed force to stop any emancipated blacks who tried to cross the border into Ohio. Most Northern States did not want blacks within their states including Indiana, Ohio, Oregon, and Illinois and had laws against them. In a speech in 1854 concerning Kansas and Nebraska becoming states, Abraham Lincoln said “we are preserving these states for the homes of free white people.” Illinois Senator Lyman Trumbull explained “there is a great aversion in the West—also in my state of Illinois having free Negroes come among us. Our people want nothing to do with the Negro.” Illinois had some of the most restrictive black laws in the nation. Lincoln was pessimistic about black and white populations co-existing in the same country. Lincoln favored their peaceful deportation to the Caribbean, Central Americas or Africa. In his February 27, 1860, Cooper Union speech, Lincoln advocated the peaceful deportation of blacks so that their places could be filled by “free white laborers.” In 1868, twelve Northern and Mid-Western States either prohibited or sharply limited black voting rights.

The years of military and Radical Republican control, otherwise known as “Reconstruction” of the South was anything but a re-constructing of a destroyed nation. But rather, these were years of extreme exploitive, corrupt and irresponsible actions of Federal, state and local governments, where most native whites realized they had no rights or recourse to the justice system. It was all about plunder and building radical Republican political power in the South and around the nation. Stirring up black resentment and hatred against the white population was their key strategy. The racial tensions built up during Reconstruction are still exploited by politicians. Now it is the application of maxims of social Marxism that are destroying the country by continuing to stir racial resentment and hatred. On a personal note, having spent considerable time in the North, I saw and experienced much more racial prejudice in the North than I have ever seen in the South. Here is just another reminder of the great lies and distortions that the North has successfully pinned wrongfully on the South over the years, and they continue to use those same tactics at every opportunity.

Remember, if we are not defending our beloved heritage and our modern South, who do we expect to do so. Remember………If Not Me, Who?…………………………If Not Now, When?

Tom Wood

The Chaplains’ Association  By Dr. H. Rondel Rumburg

One of “Stonewall” Jackson’s concerns was the establishment of a Chaplains’ Association. The purpose for this organization was to make the work of the chaplains more efficient and give them encouragement. Jackson’s chaplain Beverly Tucker Lacy was the man who set this into motion. Lacy secured a list of all the chaplains along with a list of regiments without chaplains. Then he arranged a meeting of all the chaplains [Lacy Narrative].

The first meeting of the Chaplains’ Association was at Round Oak Baptist Church on March 16, 1863. The church was located three miles from headquarters. Although General Jackson was the one who originated the idea and gave potential to it fruition, he would not attend any of the meetings because he wanted the chaplains to take up the matter and do what needed doing without what might be considered military or political interference. The general did not want it to appear officially mandated or to provoke criticism by his presence. At the formative meeting the chaplains agreed to meet weekly for prayer and to coordinate their efforts [Lacy]. Such a method would give greater coverage and less overlapping of efforts. When Chaplain Lacy returned to headquarters he was asked to come to General Jackson’s tent. There he was asked to give a report on the chaplains’ meeting. This became the routine after these meetings. Jackson would say, “Hope you had a good meeting today.” Often when he heard news of promising plans Jackson would say, “Good, Good!”

There was a committee appointed at the first meeting to issue an appeal to the Churches of the Confederacy on the needs of the army. This committee consisted of B. T. Lacy, W. C. Power, and J. Wm. Jones. Chaplain Tucker Lacy wrote the paper. Lacy read the “Appeal” to Jackson before it went forth and the general gave two verbal criticisms and approved it [J. Wm. Jones, Christ in the Camp, 231; Lacy Narrative]. The appeal emphasized the importance of the religious instruction of soldiers engaged in the sacred cause of defending rights, liberties and homes. Patriotism is not enough for there is a more important issue of the Christian faith. “Let love of country be joined to love of God—let the love of our suffering brother be associated with the love of our crucified Saviour—let the temporal interests be connected with the eternal.” The Chaplains’ Corps was under manned and good ministers were needed. A great and effectual door has been opened and there is no difficulty which zeal and faith cannot overcome. The matter was not sugarcoated for the appeal explained that the chaplain’s work was hard and must be endured. The chaplain’s fate was the same as the soldier; it was discouraging at times but the greatest encouragement has been the presence of the Holy Spirit among us. There was an emphasis given to national and individual sins. The plea was “Brethren, send us more chaplains.” A rather prophetic statement was made, “This may be the last struggle for constitutional liberty which will be made on this continent.” The appeal was drawn to their purpose, “The glory of God in the salvation of men” [Jones, 231-240].

What did the individual chaplains think of the association? Chaplain A. D. Betts wrote in his journal, March 16 – Meet chaplains of the 2nd corps at Baptist church near Division Headquarters. Pleasant meeting. Rev. B. T. Lacy will be of great service to us. Only forty-four chaplains in corps. Without chaplains, forty-seven regiments and battalions, besides artillery [29].

The second meeting of the Chaplains’ Association opened with a sermon, then elections, then minutes, then enrolling chaplains, then a free time of conversation and devotion, then unfinished and new business. There was a consideration of supplying regiments that were destitute of preaching. There were devotional exercises.

How did these meetings minister to the chaplains? One chaplain confided in his journal, “Meet chaplains of this corps. Preach to them and many others. Good meeting All day with them. Such meetings warm the heart and encourage us” [Betts, 31]. The next week he wrote, “Meet chaplains. Rev. Brigadier General Pendleton, D. D., was with us. Bro. Nelson preaches. Happy meeting. Chaplains agree to pray for each other at sunset every day” [Betts, 32].

Chaplains on various committees would be drawn to headquarters and Jackson treated them as Christian brothers. In this way the chaplains were drawn closer and closer to the great warrior [Lacy Narrative]. The Chaplains’ Association was to have a very encouraging and ongoing effect on the ministry of the Chaplains’ Corps.

One could call the Chaplains’ Association “a band of brothers” who prayed for each other and encouraged each other in the task before them. These were men in Christ who had the same purpose—the glory of God; the same Saviour—the Lord Jesus Christ; the same book—the Bible; and the same aim—the souls of men. Together a bond was formed, and a spiritual army set to conquering for Christ.

The Chaplains’ Association began in the Second Corps but as the war progressed it spread to the Third Corps. When the fruits of the labors for the Lord are considered in the Army of Northern Virginia it is astounding. God sent a sweeping revival and there was a great ingathering of souls. What General Jackson foresaw as something helpful proved to be so in reality. After the death of General Jackson, the Chaplains’ Association continued its good work until the wars end, and only eternity will be able to accurately measure its benefits.
